

Excelencia in Education and its partners invite you to join the on-going, national discussion about the educational success of Latino immigrants and their potential role in tomorrow's workforce.

Please join us next Tuesday, October 13, 2009 from 10-11:30a.m. EST for the Tomorrow's Workforce Audio Conference.

During this call, a small group of higher education professionals will discuss the topics and policy recommendations included in 2008 publication, Building Tomorrow's Workforce: Promoting the Education and Advancement of Hispanic Immigrant Workers in America.

Leading this discussion will be:

- Mary Gershwin, President, Business Champions
- Sarita E. Brown, President, Excelencia in Education
- Teresita B. Wissell, Associate Dean, The Gateway Center and Director, Community College Consortium for Immigrant Education

Click on the Excelencia in Education website and you will have access to the materials posted on the Workforce section of our site.

We invite you to watch the video highlights of a Capitol Hill Briefing, to review the powerpoint presentation and to think about these issues in the context of your community. We will reserve the last half hour for a group discussion about the following questions:

1. Given your experience in building partnerships, what are the best practices that should be brought to the forefront that bear strategies that advance immigrant students?
2. What has worked well in your community as it relates to business engagement that has helped you to provide effective services for immigrant students?

QUESTIONS?

Please email Michelle Rivera, Excelencia in Education, E-Communications Manager at mrivera@edexcelencia.org.